

sports ambassadors

travel the world and earn university credit

Eastern Washington University's Eisenhower Center allows students participating in the People to People Sports Ambassador Program to make use of the experience as a platform for growth as an individual and as a student athlete while also earning university credit.

The Eisenhower Center has developed courses to complement and enhance your Sports Ambassador experience. This opportunity allows you to earn a college transcript that will distinguish you from your competition when applying to college.

Enroll today and challenge yourself to get the maximum educational value from your experience!
